The Beacon

Light for Our City

January 26, 2010

Dear Jason,

In an effort to conserve resources, Logos Academy will only print end-of-the-year statements upon request. If you financially contributed to Logos in 2009 and need a record of your gift(s) for tax purposes, please contact Abby Baer, or call 717-848-9838, ext. 27.

Student Poetry

Logos middle school students have been studying poetry in their English classes. Enjoy this sampling of their excellent work.

The City by Tara Tolton, 8th grade
In the city there are lights and sound,
Just the size is quite profound.
One minute a child is born,
The next, the honk of an ordinary horn.

In the city it never sleeps,
Traffic slows, more beeps.
On every corner, food's cooking
In the street, a crook's booking.

But is this really that great?
Or is living here, just my fate?
The rush of people; the lights at night,
This is where I'd stay. This is where I'd fight.

The Wind by Serena Ramos, 6th grade

It blows slowly
As it yells and whispers as it goes
Even though its just moving air
It always knows

Just because it moves S

It knows just where to go
And even though its invisible
It will always show
